"File On Turkey"
Mass Arrests Supplement

October 1972

P R E F A C E

In August 1972, the Democratic Resistance of Turkey had issued a full report, File On Turkey, designed to fill the need of world opinion who needs a convenient compilation of basic facts about the current military rule in Turkey.

In that volume, the emphasis was on the objective descriptions of:

- The Military Rule, Its Background and Staff,
- The Violation of the Constitution,
- Tortures Applied to Political Prisoners,
- The Illegal Trials Before the Military Courts,
- Man Hunts and Mass Arrests,
- Execution of Death Sentences,
- The Oppression of the Kurdish People,
- Violation of Freedom of Press, Opinion and Arts,
- The Oppression of Teachers,
- Turkish Military Rule and the Foreign Press.

Under the pretext of establishing "law and order", on March 12, 1971, four high-ranking generals issued a harsh ultimatum to the President of the Republic, forced the government to resign and the parliament to form a new cabinet willing to apply extraordinary repressive measures. On April 23, 1971, military backed Prime Minister Nihat Erim challenged the left and democratic forces: "New extraordinary measures will crush their heads like a sledge-hammer!" And on April 26, 1971, the Council of Ministers proclaimed martial law in eleven provinces of Turkey and the "Sledge-Hammer Operation" was launched.

As can be seen from the File On Turkey, since the inception of martial law, thousands of intellectuals, university professors, teachers, workers, peasants and youth leaders from all corners of Turkey have been taken into custody and detained in military camps. So, Turkey has been turned into a large concentration camp.

On May 1, 1971, Prime Minister Erim informed foreign journalists of that "the number of persons creating anarchy is not more than two hundreds. So as to put them under control, martial law has been proclaimed for two months."

Whereas, an examination of the eleven districts affected by martial law reveals also the following facts:

- a) Istanbul, Ankara, İzmir, Eskişehir, Adana, Kocaeli, Zonguldak, Sakarya are the most industrialized regions of Turkey and form the progressive unions' strongest bases.

b) As for the districts of Hatay, Diyarbakır and Siirt, they represent the largest concentration of Kurds.

These facts were proof that the Sledge-Hammer Operation would go beyond the cracking down of 200 persons "creating anarchy".

Moreover, the military rule compelled parliament to enact a special law to authorize the martial law commanders. The new Act of Martial Law came into force 20 days after the proclamation of martial law, on May 15, 1971, and restricted fundamental rights and freedoms by authorizing the martial law commanders:

1. To search all dwellings, all buildings of political parties, associations, trade unions, clubs, all offices and workshops, all establishments (including autonomous ones), to search individuals and to confiscate their belongings and personal correspondences without obtaining a court order.

2. To maintain individuals in custody for a one-month period without a court warrant. Whereas the 1961 Constitution limited the period of detention to 24 hours. In applying this unconstitutional provision, the martial law commanders were able to keep thousands of people in the military jails for more than 24 hours without a court warrant.

In addition, the martial law commanders have not limited themselves to eleven provinces but have put anyone and everyone in the military jails of the six martial law headquarters. Besides, the new Act of Martial Law authorized the martial law commanders to bring not only "crimes" committed after the proclamation of martial law, but also the "crimes" committed three or four years earlier, before the military courts of martial law; to apprehend and transfer to a martial law district, any "suspect" whatever the place his "political crime" was supposedly committed; to use not only military forces, but also police forces and the gendarmerie in the man hunts.

This extraordinary law was enacted on May 15, 1971; however, from the very time martial law was instituted, the martial law commanders began using these prerogatives to the maximum.

On the first day the martial law was proclaimed, the İstanbul Martial Law Headquarters arrested two well-known columnists, Çetin Altan and İlhan Selçuk, to get the man hunt under way, and the same day the six martial law commanders held secret meetings with the heads of the security forces to formulate their plans for the "Sledge-Hammer Operation" or man hunts.

On the following day the state radio stations began broadcasting the list of "suspects" wanted by the martial law headquarters. It was nonetheless clear that the number of people being hunted was much higher than the figure mentioned by the Prime Minister.

On May 3, 1971, the Martial Law Headquarters of İstanbul stated that the security forces had been ordered to shoot on sight "suspects" who did not surrender to the authorities.

In the very first week ending on May 5, 1971, the martial law headquarters had already gone far beyond the target mentioned by the Prime Minister arresting more than 500 "suspects". And on May 5th, Prime Minister Nihat Erim stated that the government had established a fund at the Central Bank (Merkez Bankası) called "The Fund to Fight the Anarchists", thereby encouraging informers. In addition, the martial law headquarters even forced the parents of "suspects" to reveal their addresses and to cooperate with the police authorities. Doormen were also made responsible for providing information on every resident in their buildings to the authorities.

A network of informers has been created by the military rulers who promise a 6,000 dollars award for each "suspect". All the news media, the state-owned radio stations, even the loudspeakers of the mosques are used by the military authorities to invite citizens to denounce "suspects". Doormen, drivers and shopkeepers were forced to become informers and police agents. The martial law authorities ordered the state owned radio stations to refer to the informers as "the honorable informer citizens"...

Violation of the Constitution

Between April 26, 1971, the date on which martial law was enforced, and September 22, 1971, the date the amendments of the 1961 Constitution came into force, during a period of six months, the orders and actions of the six martial law commanders were in direct violation of the Constitution.

After September 22, 1971, the majority of the extraordinary authorities of martial law commanders were made "constitutional" by fitting the Constitution to the new Act of Martial Law. Nevertheless, two important provisions of the special act were even a violation of the new text of the Constitution.

In accordance with the new text of the Constitution, no one could be detained more than 48 hours for crimes committed by a single person and seven days for crimes jointly committed by more than one person. However, even after September 22, 1971, on the basis of the unconstitutional articles of the Act of Martial Law, the martial law commanders continued to keep their victims in the military jails for weeks and months without a proper court warrant.

The military commanders have not even taken into consideration decisions of the Constitutional Court. Just after the Act of Martial Law came into force, the Turkish Labour Party (TİP) appealed to the Constitutional Court for the purpose of annulling the unconstitutional provisions of the Act. On February 23, 1972, the Constitutional Court stated that two articles of the Act of Martial Law were not in accordance with the modified text of the Constitution. The high court annulled the article which authorized the martial law commanders to maintain an individual in custody for thirty days without a proper court warrant.

The martial law commanders, however, have persistently taken no account of the decision of the Constitutional Court and even after February 23, 1972, they continued to maintain hundreds of people in their custody without court warrants. (See: Kadriye Ezel İncili, Ferdane Yurtsever, Ayşe Bilge Dicleli, Ayşe Baykara, Selma Veyisoglu, Altan Öymen, Erdal Öz, Halil Berktaş, Emil Galip Sandalci, İlhan Kalaylıoğlu, Murat Belge, etc.)

The main targets of the man hunts have always been:

- a) Members of sympathizers of revolutionary organizations or groups as the Popular Liberation Army of Turkey (THKO), the Popular Liberation Front of Turkey (THKC), etc.,
- b) TİP (Turkish Labour Party) members,
- c) Progressive trade union leaders and workers,
- d) Leaders of poor peasants,
- e) Progressive teachers and TÖS (Teachers' Union of Turkey) members,
- f) Progressive and socialist writers, journalists and editors, artists, folk singers,
- g) Progressive youth leaders and members of the Dev-Genç (Progressive Youth Federation of Turkey),
- h) Kurdish intellectuals and DDKO (Progressive Eastern Anatolia Cultural Clubs) members,
- i) Radical young army officers.

Main charges against the wanted or detained persons are:

1. "To completely or partially alter the Constitution, to abolish it; to prevent parliament from discharging its functions." (Article 146 of the Turkish Penal Code)
2. "To create, to direct or to inspire associations whatever their qualification, aimed at ensuring the domination of a particular social class, or overthrowing any fundamental institution, economic or social, existing in the country." (Article 141 of the Turkish Penal Code)
3. "Whatever the form may be, to propagandize in order to ensure the domination of one social class over another or to eliminate a social class or to aim at overthrowing one or more fundamental economic or social institutions existing in the country, or at destroying the political and legal order of the state." (Article 142 of the Turkish Penal Code)
4. "To insult the moral personality of the government or the armed forces or the security forces." (Article 159 of the Turkish Penal Code.)
5. "To insult the personality of the President of the Republic." (Article 158 of the Turkish Penal Code.)
6. "To incite one class against the other classes and to create hostility between different social classes." (Article 312 of the Turkish Penal Code.)

All of these articles, directly inspired by the fascist Penal Code of Mussolini of thirty years ago (see File On Turkey pp. 100-101), have been abundantly used by the military prosecutors.

and judges. As can be clearly seen in the File On Turkey, these fascist articles can be applied to anyone who writes a personal letter to his fiance or who says "revolution is much more important than love" or who translates a book on socialism or publishes socio-economic research works.

Violation of Human Rights Convention

The military authorities violate daily the European Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms. Article 2 of the European Convention stipulates that: "Everyone's right to life shall be protected by law. No one shall be deprived of his life intentionally save in the execution of a sentence of a court following his conviction of a crime for which this penalty is provided by law."

The military authorities of Turkey have deprived more than thirty persons of their lives without court sentences. In the course of the man hunts, they have used barbarous methods and provoked many "suspects" into clashes with well-trained firing squads... As a result of this plot, the persons in the following list have been killed by "security" forces or obliged to commit suicide:

30. VEDAT GEVREK (student) - Murdered by being thrown from the upper storey of Ankara Police Headquarters on June 28, 1972.

The military rule has also applied all kinds of ill-treatments and tortures to the detainees:

a) Brutal raids and arrests carried out between midnight and dawn without a court warrant. Not only "suspects", but all the people of the big cities have been subjected to this kind of brutality. For example, on January 23, 1972 the biggest search started with a curfew at 3 a.m., under the code name "Tornado I". Until 6 p.m., during a period of 15 hours the city was controlled house by house. The raiding teams kicked in the doors of houses during the early hours of the morning, checking every inch of people's homes, entering their bedrooms, brutally awakening even the children and the aged as they slept. In many houses, they tore the beds into pieces, quilts into shreds and destroyed personal belongings. In some homes, the raiding squads went so far as to confiscate personal belongings, photographs, letters and books. Some were more violent, tearing books into shreds with their bayonets and taking their owners into custody.

b) The methods which make the prisoner feel that it is futile to resist consisting of taking away all the elements of his daily life which give him security, holding him incommunicado until he speaks under fear of torture.

c) Physical tortures as falanga (bastinado), electro-shock, burning, sexually oriented tortures.

d) Non-physical methods as assaulting the prisoner by obscenities, lies and threats from the very first moment, exposing him to noise, stripping him or her naked, exploitation of psychological weaknesses, obliging the prisoner to listen to others being tortured, mock executions, destroying the prisoner's sense of reality and forcing him to sign declarations against his beliefs.

In addition, some prisoners have been tortured before his or her family.

In certain cases the conditions of detention can be considered a form of torture. Prisoners are deprived of food, water and sleep. Locked in filthy, verminous, solitary confinement cells, they are not allowed to use toilet.

Mass Arrests

The following list includes the names of those wanted or detained or arrested since the beginning of the period of martial law. Although the names, places and dates in this list have been taken from the newspapers which have published information on the subject within the limits of the official communiques or the news provided by the military authorities, the readers can have a general idea on the gravity of the man hunts in Turkey.

The total number of the detainees whose names have not been disclosed is 3,537.

In the following alphabetical list, the names and professions of the victims, the dates and places of their being placed on wanted lists, detention, arrests, first trial, release and verdict can be mentioned as far as knowledge of the matter has reached us.

It is a fact that the following list cannot be considered as a complete work on the subject. While checking the list, the points mentioned below must be taken into consideration:

- For some persons like Hayrettin Bozal, Şaban Eren, Mevlut Bayraktar, etc., only date of release or verdict can be mentioned, because their detentions or arrests had never been disclosed. But after they were released or sentenced, it could be understood that they had previously been kept under arrest or detention for a while.

- Some persons like Hasan İskit had been arrested or condemned, but the matter had not been disclosed. But after a certain period, the authorities disclosed their arrests or condemnations later on another occasion.

- The detentions or arrests of some persons like Murat Belge, Ferdane Yurtsever, Zeki Yada, Hasan İzzettin Dinamo, Muhittin Bakırsan, etc., could be learnt only from the affidavits given by themselves or by other tortured persons.

- Many of the victims mentioned in the list were probably released after a while. But as far as there is not an official communique about releasing them, it has been impossible to say which one is released.

- Some persons have been placed on wanted lists by several martial law headquarters in different times, but only the date and place of the first one is mentioned in the following list.

- Some of the detainees have been accused of committing different offences and brought before several military courts in different times. All of them are mentioned in the following list. The verdicts approved by the Military Court of Cassation are bracketed.

- Professions of all victims could not be learnt. Moreover, many victims have been mentioned as "students" by the authorities, even if they are now professionals like lawyers, architects, physicians. Because they have been detained on the charges of "having been involved of student activities three or four years ago". Therefore, the following list is not able to reflect the present positions of the victims.

The 1 - 157th pages of the list includes the names of victims obtained until October 5, 1972. The second part of the list starting from page 159 includes the names obtained at the last moment. According to the following list, the number of detainees whose names have been disclosed is 3,508.

The total known number of detainees with those, whose names were not disclosed is 7,015.

It can easily be seen that the number of victims detained or arrested throughout Turkey is actually much higher than this figure. According to the official communiques, the military and police forces had brought 5,117 cases before the military prosecutors in Ankara by August 1972; 3,099 in Istanbul as of May 28, 1972; and more than 5,000 in Diyarbakir as of April 27, 1972. The martial law headquarters of Adana, Izmir and Eskişehir have never disclosed the figures concerning legal cases. While many of these cases have been submitted to the public prosecutors, others have never been subjected to legal action; detainees have nevertheless, in both cases, been held in police or military headquarters for days and weeks on end. For example, Çetin Yılmaz, Member of Parliament, disclosed that during the period of the Sledge-Hammer Operation 3,500 teachers had been detained and many of them had been released after a few days or a week(x). Whereas the following alphabetical list includes only the names of 322 teachers, because the authorities have disclosed only one tenth of the detainees.

Even if being released after a short while, all of the detained persons were labelled by the authorities and isolated. For this reason many of them have lost their jobs and have tried to leave Turkey in order to find a job abroad, but the authorities never give passport to those. Although many of the detainees have been released, in fact for thousands victims of the man hunts and even for their relatives Turkey itself has been turned into a prison.

Appeal

The Democratic Resistance of Turkey considering the facts and documentary evidences put forth in the File On Turkey and in this supplementary volume repeats the following:

1. It has been established beyond doubt that torture or ill-treatment, in direct violation of Article 3 of the European Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms, has been inflicted in numerous cases. Given the repetition of these acts and the official tolerance of these acts, the practice of torture constitutes an administrative practice.

2. There was not on March 12, 1971 and on April 26, 1972 a conspiracy to overthrow a constitutional government nor was there a breakdown in public order which could constitute a "public emergency threatening the life of the nation".

3. The people of Turkey are prevented from choosing a legislature under conditions which will ensure free expression in accordance with Article 3 of the First Protocol to the Convention.

4. The Turkish regime has violated all fundamental freedoms and rights guaranteed under the European Convention of Human Rights pertaining to:

- a) right to life (Article 2),
- b) right to liberty and security (Article 5),
- c) freedom of fair trial (Article 6, 7),
- d) right to respect for private and family life, home and correspondence (Article 8)
- e) freedom of thought, conscience and belief (Article 9),
- f) freedom of expression (Article 10),
- g) freedom of association and trade-union (Article 11),
